and Get Involved

The Mining & Exploration Division provide a means for cooperation and communication among professionals engaged in the mining of metals, research, specialized aspects of mining, and exploration technologies.

The M&E Division advance these industry segments by:

- Promoting and publishing papers,
- Organizing meetings and programs, and
- Encouraging education on subjects related to the mining and exploration of metals.

Recognition for Excellence in the Industry

- Ben F. Dickerson III Award
- Daniel C. Jackling Award
- M&E Distinguished Service Award
- M&E Outstanding Young Professional Award
- Miner of the Year Award
- Robert M. Peele Memorial Award
- William L. Saunders Gold Medal

Volunteer Opportunities

Each February, members are nominated to serve on committees. To learn more about these volunteer opportunities contact volunteer@smenet.org.

Opportunities include M&E Executive committee, Program committees and other various division committees.

Mining & Exploration Division Executive Committee has oversight of all activities within the Division.

Mining & Exploration Scholarship Committee reviews the applications and selects the recipients of the M&E Division Scholarship, and the Eugene P. Pfeider Memorial Scholarship, the Henry DeWitt Smith Graduate Scholarship, the Steven C. Potter Scholarship and the Stewart R. Wallace Memorial Scholarship.

Mining & Exploration Award Committees select various recipients of Division awards.

Mining & Exploration Representatives serving on SME Standing Committees contribute to the needs and discussions of the current projects and bring new ideas to help achieve committee goals.

Mining & Exploration Representatives serving on SME Education Committees provide valuable input and guidance on specific issues regarding education including curricular standards and accreditation issues.
